

First Nations Medical Scholarship Program

Bond University is committed to fostering diversity and providing a culturally-inclusive environment with equitable educational opportunities for First Nations Australians.

The increasing presence of First Nations students and staff benefits the whole Bond community in learning about, and respecting, First Nations people and culture.

Bond University is proud to provide opportunities in tertiary education for First Nations Australians, including a First Nations pathway into its Medical Program*, which comprises a Bachelor of Medical Studies (BMedSt) and Doctor of Medicine (MD).

In 2025, two scholarships are available for eligible First Nations students:

- Bond University First Nations Medical Full Scholarship - Full-fee (100%) plus a living allowance of $5,500 per semester for BMed St & MD
- Bond University First Nations Medical Partial Scholarship - Partial-fee (50%) plus a living allowance for the first semester of $5,500 for BMed St

Your application for the Bond University First Nations Medical Scholarship will be initiated once you identify on your QTAC application form that you are of Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander descent. There are two intakes for the Bond University Medical Program in May and September, via the QTAC application process.

QTAC applications open on Thursday, 9 January 2025 and close on Thursday, 23 January 2025.

*The Medical Program is comprised of two sequential degrees - the Bachelor of Medical Studies (BMedSt) (CRICOS 0101292) and the Doctor of Medicine (MD) (CRICOS 111520H). All students selected for entry into the Medical Program will have to complete both the BMedSt and MD to be eligible for registration as a medical practitioner in any state or territory in Australia or New Zealand.

Joan Cassimatis

Bond University First Nations Medical Scholarship recipient

In the spirit of reconciliation, Bond University acknowledges the Kombumerri people, the traditional Owners and Custodians of the land on which the University now stands. We pay respect to Elders past, present and emerging.

Dedicated Support

The Nyombil Centre at Bond University provides a welcoming and supportive environment for our extended community of Indigenous students from all over Australia. The team in the Nyombil Centre will help you transition to university life and throughout your degree. The staff will also help you connect with the local Indigenous community who welcome our students at various cultural and social events. Our scholarships open the door to a network of extracurricular programs, professional networking, internships and more.

Medicine at Bond

In today's complex healthcare environment, Bond's Medical Program will equip you with the fundamental knowledge, skills and attributes required to practice medicine safely and effectively. You'll graduate with the clinical, interpersonal, teamwork, and leadership skills required to deliver high-quality healthcare outcomes as well as an engrained commitment to care for yourself, your colleagues, and all community groups.

Scan to learn more or visit:
bond.edu.au/scholarship/bond-university-first-nations-medical-scholarship-program

bond.edu.au

CRICOS 00017B
TEQSA PRV12072

Indigenous Artwork by Abelee Stanley

Bond University
Gold Coast Queensland 4229
Australia

Toll free: 1800 074 074
Phone: 07 5595 1111
bond.edu.au